I'd assume that there would be some sort of scheduling requests from Gross/the Comms shop to Card regarding these appearances. While I'm not exactly sure of the date, Jeffords switched parties right around Memorial Day, so my guess would be sometime between March and that point. Narrowed to particular series and date range	6/16/2016

I know that Bohn set these meetings up, and that Ed Gillespie advocated for this sort of outreach. The first meeting occurred on September 15th, 2006 and involved 6 hosts. The 2nd happened in late summer or early fall in 2007 (likely August because a September publication included coverage) and involved 10 hosts. 2016-0191-F	3/31/2016	Michael	Linhorst	I request that a copy of the following documents be provided to me: All speeches or talking-point memos announcing or describing a nominee to the U.S. Supreme Court who was not, in the end, nominated. I understand that White House staffers prepare multiple sets of public presentations, including speeches for the President to deliver, introducing the American people to various potential nominees before the final nominee is determined. I am interested in the speeches that were written regarding people who were considered for nomination but were not actually nominated. The documents I request were likely written in the days or weeks immediately preceding President Bush's Supreme Court nomination announcements: July 19, 2005 (John Roberts); Oct. 3, 2005 (Harriet Miers); Oct. 31, 2005 (Samuel Alito). To be clear, I am not seeking speeches or talking-points memos regarding Roberts, Miers or Alito. Rather, I am seeking the documents written in anticipation of other candidates' potential nominations.	4/19/2016

I see from your Library website that likely sources may include those related to some of the initiatives highlighted on the archived website, https://georgewbush-whitehouse.archives.gov/firstlady/ such as, "Helping America's Youth," "Education," "Books and Authors" and perhaps "Women's Health and Wellness." I am hoping this FOIA request will make available archival materials related to these initiatives that I could see. 2023-0032-F	10/20/2022	Alexander	Schotthöfer	President Bush's views on and perceptions of North Korea and its leadership, I require government documents that include any non-public statements that he made during the first two years of his first term (2001-2002). The type of source that most likely contains the information I need would be memoranda or transcripts of telephone conversations with other leaders such as the South Korean president, Kim Dae-jung. Overall, I only need documents that record George W. Bush's expression of his own views on North Korea or another government official's mentioning the president's views. I do not need documents that generally state the North Korea policy of the overall administration at the time.	10/21/2022
