SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

This reports plan of four New England hoodlums to kill two Agents of our Boston office. Three of these hoodlums are currently fugitives in connection with the ITAR-Gambling investigation. The fourth was arrested by our Boston office yesterday and is being held on $150,000 bond. All four have been implicated in the gangland slaying of Rudy Marfeo, Boston, Massachusetts, bookmaker. According to a former informant of our Boston office, the plans call for his urging our two Agents to contact him, after which the hoodlums would take the Agents under control. One Agent would be killed immediately. SA Paul Rico would then be forced to drive the hoodlums to the place where John J. Kelley was being guarded by U. S. Marshals. Kelley is currently cooperating with our Boston office and has provided detailed information implicating these hoodlums in the murder of Marfeo.

The hoodlums believed that the marshals, upon seeing Agent Rico, would relax, after which they would kill Agent Rico, the marshals and Kelley. The hoodlums indicated that if they locate SA Rico's exact address, they have other plans in mind which were not furnished our source.

The Lerner mentioned in this teletype when apprehended by our Boston office yesterday, commented to Agent Rico "You look just like your pictures." Lerner, according to Kelley, is extremely courageous and appears to relish killing.

A teletype is being sent immediately to SAC, Boston, containing specific instructions to afford SA Rico and his family adequate security; to vigorously press their investigation toward locating the three fugitives involved in this plan; to insure U. S. Marshal aware of plan and that adequate security afforded Kelley; and in the event Lerner makes bond, to take appropriate steps for revocation of same. Department being advised.
