Kenneth Starr

Seven reasons why Whitewater Prosecutor Kenneth Starr is not independent and should step down:

1) While working as independent prosecutor, he made a $1,750 campaign donation to President Clinton's political foes in the presidential campaign.

2) Mr. Starr remains in private legal practice. Between August 1994 and August 1994, he was paid $1.14 million by his firm. He represents several major tobacco companies who are accused of suppressing information about nicotine addiction and are sworn opponents of the Clinton Administration's attempt to regulate the tobacco industry.

3) Mr. Starr represented the International Paper Company, at the time he was appointed. International Paper sold land to the Whitewater Development Company. Robert Fiske, Mr. Starr's predecessor, was removed in 1994 after 10 GOP congressmen assailed Mr. Fiske for representing International Paper in the past.

4) Mr. Starr has represented the state of Wisconsin in a challenge to its GOP-backed school voucher program. His fee was paid in part by the ultra-conservative Bradley Foundation of Pennsylvania, which helps finance the highly partisan, right-wing American Spectator.

5) Before Mr. Starr was appointed independent prosecutor, the conservative organ The Washington Times headlined Mr. Starr as "Friend of Court is Foe of Clinton."

6) Mr. Starr has investigated an agency, the Resolution Trust Corporation, that was suing his law firm for $1 million for allegedly aiding a tax scam conducted by a failed S&L in Denver. His firm paid out $325,000 in a settlement. An ethics expert called Starr's conduct in the case a "conflict both palpable and unacceptable."

7) The Arkansas Times estimates Mr. Starr, the Congress and the RTC had spent about $31 million of our tax dollars in their Whitewater investigations as of March 1996 and that Mr. Starr was increasing the national debt at $1 million a month, for a grand total of $40 million at the end of 1996. Who is going to call an end to this unfettered partisan stalking of the president and First Lady?

Sam Dash, the ex-Watergate prosecutor and $3,200-a-week ethics adviser to Mr. Starr, was quoted as saying there is "no relationship between Whitewater and any of the major scandals in our time that have required the appointment of an independent counsel."

What you can do is write Sam Dash and insist that he call for the resignation of Mr. Starr. Write him at Office of the Independent Counsel, 1001 Pennsylvania Avenue

NW, Suite 490-North, Washington, D.C.
20004. The fax is 202-514-8802.

Dear Mr. Dask,

I am writing to you in protest of the grotesquely expensive witch hunt Mr. Kenneth Starr is pursuing. There is so blatant a conflict of interest we find it appalling anyone could condone such an expedition -

Our tax dollars (millions) could perhaps be put to better use i.e. feeding the poor, improving education or dealing with our outdated infrastructure - we as simple taxpayers are doomed to foot this ridiculous bill for a mass vendetta against the President -

We or I am calling for Mr. Starr's resignation immediately as I am disgusted -

Sincerely,
Jane M. Gehee

Honorable Sam Wash,
Kenneth Starr is so sickening - he reminds me of the most vicious slanderer, back luter trouble maker
- why do we have to put up with him - Spend money for this!!!
President Clinton is doing a good job under the most unrecalled for strain I've ever heard of. Starr is like a bulldog, someone needs to give him a boost by the seat of the pants and throw him @ H T & Where - I don't call him MR to get that title a person has to be a gentleman and he is far from being anything like NO gentleman & why for he demanded this money he is spending? Sick folk - elderly, Poor, street people, misfortunate people need help and SICK people ~~and~~ helpless ones, Starr is nothing - is doing nothing to help the situation in the U.S. let alone the misfortunates in other countries.

Starr needs to sit down and read what God says in the good book. He is for self and no one else to satisfy his desire to ruin some one else's life, not just one - but many lives - The papers have wasted space on him so long.

We don't take the Little Rock paper D. Gazette because of waste on Starr.

Starr really needs a good dose of the same thing Res trains to do to our President and his lady - Down with STARR - make Starr quit using money, that is not his Why has this been allowed?

Take him out of office!
I have 2 brothers upth there give the money to research on where ever it will do. good, Sincerely,

Willa M. Hogan
